

Landowner comments (The National Trust)

14/10/19

The trees in question continue to be surveyed, in line with our National Trust Tree Safety Management programme. At present we have no concerns about the condition of the trees and our assessments indicate that there are no faults that would lead to a likely collapse.

We will continue to survey and monitor the trees and will carry out any remedial works deemed necessary.